

I think it is appalling how the media covered the war with Iraq, practically glorifying the act of aggression and killings. This one-sided coverage is a chilling comment on where the media puts their bottom line: money. Balanced journalism and accurate comes second at best.